

IT IS NOT A DONE DEAL!

WANT THE FACTS?

The hotel on Airlie's foreshore is not a done deal - you can help save it as public parkland. The whisper round town is that there's no point wasting our time because the Outtrigger Development is signed, sealed and, all but delivered. This is simply not so. Several crucial things have to be signed off before the development is a certainty. The council must yet pass the development application and the State Govt must yet sign the lease. If we, all of us, make enough noise it can be stopped.

The development proposes 125 hotel rooms and 127 parking places - where would the rest of us park?

Liquor would be served right at the edge of the lagoon where children play.

The building's 4 storey height would dominate the town and set a Noosa style 'wall of buildings' precedent for our whole main street.

Airlie Creek is potentially one of our most precious natural features. It doesn't need covering it needs recovering!

To save our foreshore we must act NOW.
